

SCOTTVILLE AREA SENIOR CENTER

140 S. MAIN ST. • SCOTTVILLE, MI 49454 • 231-757-4705

Happening this month!

Enjoy the fall, the harvest of delicious vegetables, the gorgeous moon.....

All leading up to Halloween.

Grandparents Raising Grandchildren: October 16th at 5:30.

We are inviting local book authors to tell about their methods of writing: Brad Reed & Rachel Gaudette use photos; Debbie Nellis uses Mackinac Island as her venue; Joan Young writes mysteries using some historical facts.....all very clever! Please join us to welcome them and have them encourage us all to begin to write a story ourselves! A representative of the PoWer Book Bag Group will also have a table.....

Kiddos, in addition to writing books to decorate, will receive pillows and pillow cases to encourage curling up while doing creative thinking, thanks to the Scottville Area Senior Center Quilting Group! And John Marek will be blowing up balloon animals!!!!!!

POTLUCK LUNCH: Happy Halloween!

Bring a dish to pass, and dress in a scary costume.....prizes will be awarded, and everyone will have a great time!!!

Check Out all of our amazing ongoing classes (Matter of Balance and Chronic Disease) continue through October, for example), and attend our nutritious lunches complimented by a salad bar (call before 9 a.m. on the day you wish to attend).

Crafting with Chris on October 31st (Yes, ON Halloween!), will feature creating a glowing glass pumpkin! The cost is $15, with all materials provided!

Now, put on your favorite hoodie or sweatshirt, and check out Michigan's colorful parade of trees as they change their colors throughout the glorious month of October!

The map may not be totally accurate as to the arrival of the reds and golds, but it is close!

Enjoy October!

